The cannibal chief further stipulated that the new missionary should be known by the sign of this skull, which he must bring with him as a fulfillment of the pledge. As Dr. Luering cannot return, he asked the missionary board to send a substitute, who will carry with him this relic of barbarism and thus redeem Dr. Luering's pledge of

His knowledge of medicine brought him to the notice of the chief, who finally gave him permission to preach to the natives, which resulted in the conversion of many, including his sable majesty. The savages build their huts in trees as a protection against beasts, reptiles and neighboring tribes.
